7. Dr. Ayan Kumar Das, Assistant Professor, Microbiology - Lab Coordinator for AMR Surveillance and IT
Coordinator for online Antibiotic prescription auditing.
8. Nursing Superintendent, HAHCH - Member
9. Senior Manager, Pharmacy, HAHCH - Member
10. Concerned Head of the Department as & when required - Member

Roles & Responsibilities:

1. Medical Superintendent, HAHCH Hospital: for administrative execution and supervision.
2. Clinical Pharmacologist will serve as an expert on rational use of antimicrobials.
3. Infection Control Officer will coordinate facility-wide monitoring and prevention of healthcare-associated infections and will readily bring their skills to auditing, analysing and reporting data. The Officer will also assist with monitoring and reporting of resistance and CDI trends, educating staff on the importance of appropriate antibiotic use, and implementing strategies to optimize the use of antibiotics.
4. Laboratory Coordinator will guide the proper use of tests and the flow of results. The coordinator will also guide empiric therapy by creating and interpreting a facility cumulative antibiotic resistance report, known as an antibiogram. Lab and stewardship staff will work collaboratively to ensure that lab reports present data in a way that supports optimal antibiotic use.
5. Nursing Superintendent will assure that cultures are performed before starting antibiotics. In addition, the Nursing Superintendent will review medications as part of the routine duties and will prompt discussions on antibiotic treatment, indication, and duration.
6. Pharmacy Manager will coordinate the pharmacy with regard to antimicrobial prescription.
7. Clinicians and Department Heads– As the prescribers of antibiotics, it is vital that clinicians are fully engaged in and are supportive of efforts to improve antibiotic use in hospitals.
